Subject:	Are you throwing away $500 an hour?

You wouldn't dream of paying someone five hundred bucks an hour to schedule your social media posts, repurpose old blog posts, or book your travel arrangements.

But that's exactly what you're doing when you do that type of stuff all by yourself.

Because if you run an online biz and you're the person in charge of bringing in the money...

... then that is your top priority.

(It should also be your second and third priority!)

And any time you spend doing work isn't bringing in money and growing your business is simply a bad use of your valuable time.

But I get it...

Letting go and delegating can be scary.

It's as unnerving as releasing your grip on the pool's edge when you were first learning to swim.

There's fear, followed by a realization...

You float.

In business, that magic moment of buoyancy comes when you pass off those small, time-siphoning tasks to someone you trust.

Many fellow entrepreneurs have made the leap, embracing an experienced Virtual Assistant to handle their day-to-day grunt work, only to wonder why they hadn't done it sooner.

And you can join them too...

With a VA that's not just any VA.

They're a 'Tailored for You' VA — surprisingly affordable, and handpicked with your business's needs in mind.

Best part:

You don't have to spend tens of hours interviewing, hiring and training them...

At the VA Concierge, we can take care of all that time-consuming stuff for you...

And your VA will arrive ready to work for you, fully trained on the exact tasks they will be doing in your business.

This is the kind of VA who can save you 15+ hours per week...

Allowing you to laser focus on the raw green core of your business, so you can see faster growth than ever before.

Sound good?
