
From:	Jeff Salzenstein
Subject:	Can tough love make you a better player? (Just ask Kyrgios)

Remember last month when John McEnroe called Nick Kyrgios a "head case"...

...and predicted he'd be finished in under five years?

Well, guess what happened next?

They teamed up...

And suddenly, magic sparked on the court.

I nearly spat out my coffee when I heard about this match-up.

McEnroe, the original tennis wild child, coaching the latest racket-smashing rebel.

Everyone thought McEnroe was off his rocker for wanting to coach Kyrgios... even Nick himself!

But here's the thing...

At the Laver Cup, McEnroe helped turn this young tennis rebel's game around.

Sometimes, all it takes is someone who's already walked the same wild road to guide you through those sharp turns.

That's exactly what McEnroe did.

No sugar-coating, no empty praise... He gave Kyrgios the tough love he needed, along with the wisdom only a true tennis legend can deliver.

Watching Kyrgios play like he had lightning in his veins — even making the almighty Federer break a sweat — was damn inspiring.

And that brings me to you...

Are you ready to find your own McEnroe?

I can't promise I'll be as controversial as McEnroe, but I can be your coach — guiding you through the mental game of tennis (and life!)

And I'm confident that with the right mindset, we can create massive breakthroughs in just a few short weeks.

I love seeing my one-on-one clients make rapid improvements...

Not just on the court, but in life too.

But my openings for in-person coaching are very limited...

After all...

There's only one of me, and my time is valuable.

That's why I created Tennis Evolution Plus — to share the very best tennis training and techniques I learned as a top 100 player..

...and bring these tools to a larger audience, helping people like YOU level up their game.

Here's the kicker:

If you join today, you'll get a 21-day free trial to experience what Tennis Evolution is all about — and see the difference firsthand.

Don't make me say "you cannot be serious!" – click here and let's kick some ass on the court together.

See you inside the members area,

Jeff Salzenstein
Former Top 100 ATP Pro
Founder of Tennis Evolution